SUBJECT:

HOUSE ACTION, FRIDAY, JUNE 17

The following is a summary of House action taken today:

Ways and Means Committee

- Adopted a Pike-NY substitute (Business Use Tax) which was worked out with Larry Woodworth, Al Alm and Congressman Al Ullman's staff. ✓
- The Committee unanimously adopted an Amendment to exempt any business that cannot meet air quality standards. ✓
Basically keeps intact the Administration's tax to encourage conversion to coal. ✓
- Monday and Tuesday the Committee will deal with the tax rebate question and intangible drilling tax. ✓

The House today adopted a Hyde amendment 201-155 prohibiting use of any funds for abortion without exceptions. ✓

The House adopted an amendment restricting HEW's affirmative action programs by a voice vote. This severely hinders the enforcement of the Civil Rights Act. ✓

An amendment in the House was rejected to prohibit Office of Civil Rights from collecting civil rights data. ✓

The House passed the Labor/HEW Appropriations Bill by voice vote. ✓

The House defeated an attempt to instruct the conferees on the International Financial Monetary Institutions bill by a vote of 166-200. ✓
The instructions would have required a no vote to countries who do not comply with Human Rights Agreements.

MAIL SUMMARY - WEEK ENDING JUNE 17, 1977

The following statements are based on debriefings of mail analysts during the week.

ENERGY -- Writers are displeased with Congress and lobbyists, and people support the President's desire to pass a comprehensive energy plan. Most people still have problems accepting some of the Administration's specific energy saving recommendations, but are incensed that the entire energy plan is being delayed by Congress.

LABOR/HEW APPROPRIATIONS BILL -- People are requesting that funds for specific programs remain at current levels. Key subjects are abortion and HEAD START, the preschooler program. Writers say Medicaid funds should be used to perform abortions. And many people "vigorously oppose" the Michel amendment because they say the "highly successful" HEAD START program should be expanded, not cut.

GAYS -- People are concerned about the future of the country and the possible persecution of other minorities if homosexuals are continually denied basic civil rights. Most of these same people say that this is not a moral issue. The "con" gay letters are usually religious in nature.

PERSONAL PROBLEMS -- In most cases this mail is being directed to three government agencies: HEW, VA, and JUSTICE. The letters are filled with personal problems, hardship cases, and last resorts. Overall economic problems for the elderly run heavy. Prison inmates request relocation, parole or pardons.

B-1 -- The write-in campaign continues and, although a majority of writers are opposed to the construction, more and more people are writing in support of the B-1 bomber.

YOUNG -- Pro-Young mail is beginning to pick up in number, but the "con" sentiment still far outweighs the mail from supporters who say the Ambassador is "unpopular, but truthful."

ISRAEL -- Mailgrams, telegrams, and letters are being sent by persons opposed to the creation of a Palestinian "homeland" on the West Bank and Gaza Strip. There is a write-in campaign underway.

MEETING WITH OFFICERS AND LEADERS OF JEWISH CHAPEL
FUND AT WEST POINT

Friday, June 17, 1977
1:30 p.m. (10 minutes)
The Roosevelt Room

From: Robert J. Lipshutz

RJL

I. PURPOSE

This brief meeting is held at the request of Edgar Bronfman, Congressman Benjamin Gilman and others. A number of Jewish graduates of the U. S. Military Academy have felt the need and urgency to restate Jewish commitment to the United States, and as a result are establishing a Jewish Cadet Chapel at West Point. You were requested to issue a message regarding this.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS AND PRESS PLAN

- A. Background: The establishment and financing of a Jewish Cadet Chapel at West Point is underway. All of the necessary construction approvals and plans have been completed by a "Right of Entry" order issued by the Department of the Army on January 22, 1977.
- B. Participants: (See attached List): Jewish graduates of the Academy; Defense Department leaders and Congressman Gilman.
- C. Press Plan: Press photo opportunity. Meeting to be announced.

III. TALKING POINTS

- 1. I believe the establishment of the Jewish Cadet Chapel at West Point would not only serve religious needs, but creation of a gallery and a museum would provide a repository for artifacts and memorabilia commemorating Jewish participation in American military history.

2. I believe the erection of this Chapel will be a great attraction for tourists.
3. It is indeed an honor for me to deliver this message to you -- the Officers and Leaders of the West Point Jewish Chapel Fund.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

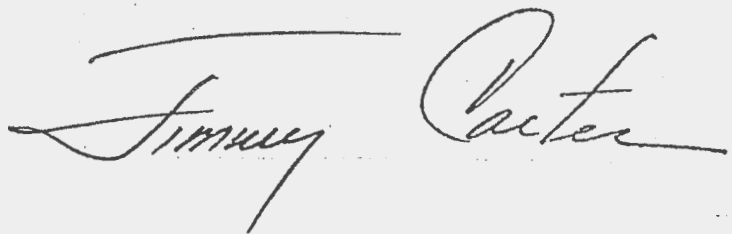

The Jewish Cadet Chapel at the United States Military Academy will meet several important needs.

Most significantly, it will provide a place of worship and of religious sustenance for Jewish cadets, officers, and members of the West Point community and their families.

Both as Commander-in-Chief and as a graduate of one of West Point's sister academies, I believe that the spiritual development of the young men and women who are destined to lead our armed forces is as vital as any other aspect of their growth.

In addition, the Chapel and its associated gallery and museum will serve as a repository for artifacts and memorabilia of the long and honorable story of Jewish participation in the military history of our country, from pre-Revolutionary times to the present. In this way, the Chapel will contribute to the education of all cadets, regardless of religion, and to the knowledge of many thousands of visitors. And in a broader sense, the Chapel will symbolize both the rich diversity of our nation and its fundamental unity.

It is an honor for me to commend and congratulate all of you who are taking part in the establishment of the Jewish Cadet Chapel at West Point.

MEETING WITH COMMITTEE OF CORPORATE LEADERS

Friday, June 17, 1977

9:20 a.m. (10 minutes)

The Roosevelt Room

From: Hamilton Jordan HJ
Mark Siegel ms

I. PURPOSE

To meet with the organizational session of the Committee of Corporate Leaders supporting the President's Energy Plan.

II. BACKGROUND, PARTICIPANTS & PRESS PLAN

- A. Background: Ten corporate leaders have agreed to form the nucleus of the Business Committee to Support the President Energy Program, and will be meeting in the Roosevelt Room with you, Schlesinger, and members of our respective staffs on Friday morning.

Schlesinger will convene the Friday meeting at 9:00 a.m. and will give an overview of our programmatic goals and a legislative status report. He will ask for their help and support without making specific requests for action at that point. You are scheduled to be with them from 9:20 to 9:30 a.m.

After you leave, we will deal with the details of our strategy. We will be asking them to serve as Co-Chairmen of the Energy Committee and as part of their commitment to also solicit 250 other corporate leaders to join with them in this effort. Our draft timetable calls for the Committee to be announced at the end of this month, at a critical time in the House deliberations. The vehicle will be a full-page ad in the Wall Street Journal.

The Business Committee will be asked to openly support and work for the enactment of the Energy Plan, through letters, calls and direct testimony on the Hill. Additionally, they will be asked to join with state and local governments in implementing energy plans and particularly establishing energy conservation programs within their own companies. Their in-house programs are recommended to include the development of a plan for a ten percent (10%) reduction in energy consumption, energy education programs among their employees, energy-oriented letters and advertising, et cetera. In general, we are asking them to act as energy catalysts, taking the civic initiative on energy planning.

B. Participants

- Frank Borman, Chairman of the Board, Eastern Airlines
- Thornton F. Bradshaw, Chairman of the Board, Atlantic Richfield
- August A. Busch, Chairman of the Board, Anheuser-Busch
- Fred Currey, Chairman of the Board, Continental Trailways
- John D. Debutts, Chairman of the Board, American Telephone and Telegraph
- John H. Filer, Chairman of the Board, Aetna Life and Casualty
- William Henry Krome George, Chairman of the Board, Aluminum Company of America
- Frank Hendrick, President, Beech Aircraft
- Arthur Krim, Chairman of the Board, United Airlines
- Helen Meyer, President, Dell Publishing

C. Press Plan: White House Photograph

II TALKING POINTS

- A. General greeting and thank you for attendance.
- B. We must stress the fact that this must be a joint effort and we need their help: "I cannot do this alone. The adoption of a comprehensive energy program for our nation requires intimate cooperation between the business and governmental sectors.
- C. "All too often business has taken a bum rap in terms of public opinion, but sometimes that has been the fault of the business community, in part. For business has been very successful, through the years, in articulating what it was against, but only rarely has it been an advocate for innovation through-out our communities and in new social planning.
- D. "Now corporate America must stand up and say what we, business and government, can and must do together, to plan for our future, to plan the first comprehensive national energy program in our nation's history.
- E. "The people in this room are leaders -- you have not shied away from speaking out, you are well known as politically responsible corporate executives. You have all done incredibly successful work in your own companies, and you are distinguished planners.
- F. "I'm sure you find it as incomprehensible as I, that this nation has plodded along so slowly in the field of energy, without planning and direction, as we further deplete our resources daily. I am sure you would never run your businesses that way, and we cannot afford to run our government that way.

- G. "We all know that the problem will not go away by wishing it away. The problem can only be solved by comprehensive legislation, and that is what I have introduced to Congress. What we need now is the help of the business community, and of you in particular, in convincing Congress that we must take action now.
- H. "Jim Schlesinger will be able to answer your specific questions. I want to thank you again for your offer of assistance, and encourage you to do whatever you think is proper and appropriate so that we may proceed with a rational, sensible approach to the energy problems in this nation."

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM Barry Jagoda B.J.

Re: 9:45am meeting with Joe Duffey

Joe Duffey is coming to see you on the general subject of cultural activities, but particularly the Humanities Endowment. He understands that you have made no decisions about appointments to the NEH, and he knows that you and your staff are not obligated to him on this or any other position.

I was impressed with John Brademas' argument that this post can be a good link between you and the intellectual community. At the same time, a trusted Carterite like Duffey would emphasize libraries, civic clubs, and the promotion of humanistic excellence at the level of ordinary citizens. Things like family oral history, regional socio-cultural-historic endeavors, problems of social mobility, worker alienation, museums, public television, community education, etc. (Much of the NEH money is discretionary and we need someone running this endowment who can let the country and your administration take advantage of its potential importance.)

If you choose, we can defer the question of merger of the cultural endowments until a later time. Pell and Brademas remain strongly opposed to a merger. They would both support making one person head of a thing called The Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities. It is a group established back at the time of the creation of the endowments to "promote coordination between the programs of the National Endowment for the Arts, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and related programs of other Federal agencies." Traditionally, the chairmanship of this coordinating group has rotated between the head of the arts endowment and the head of the humanities endowment. If you mandated this group to carefully study possible merger or reorganization questions under the aegis of your appointee to the Humanities that might be the take-off point for better programming in the future.

TALKING POINTS

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

June 16, 1977

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: JIM FALLOWS Jim

SUBJECT: Swearing-In of Eleanor Norton,
Patt Derian and Virginia McCarty
Susan Battles has prepared these talking points:

1. These swearings-in are often dramatic symbolic occasions -- as when you stood with Sam Brown and Max Cleland on the same day. That ceremony symbolized our progress toward healing the wounds of the war years. Today's represents our pride in the achievements of these three women -- Eleanor Holmes Norton, as a member and chairperson - designate of the EEOC, Patt Derian, as coordinator of Humanitarian Affairs in the Department of State, and Virginia McCarty as U.S. Attorney for the South District of Indiana -- and our shared commitment to full participation in our government and society by all our people, including women and minorities.

2. This ceremony symbolizes something else as well -- our commitment to human and civil rights here and around the world. It is no coincidence that each of these three women has long been active in these fields; they are superbly qualified for the responsibilities they are about to undertake.

3. Eleanor Holmes Norton has an extremely impressive track record in New York as the chairperson of the Commission on Human Rights. She is a woman after your own heart. During the seven years she served on the Commission, she transformed the agency from a bureaucratic mess into a smoothly-operating functional unit. Under her guidance, the agency operated without a backlog -- something you trust she will do at the EEOC.

4. Your own commitment to human rights here at home is clear. You picked the EEOC for early re-organization. This is the first time since the 1964 Civil Rights Act went into effect that there has been a close evaluation of the EEOC to see how efficiently and effectively it is functioning. You have every confidence that Ms. Norton, with her background as a Constitutional lawyer, who has spent her whole professional life in the civil rights field, will do the office proud. You are also displaying your commitment to placing women and blacks in high office by appointing Ms. Norton -- the first woman in history to head the EEOC.

5. Next is Patt Derian -- who has become, after your own wife and mother, the press' favorite Southern lady. She has already become something of a media celebrity and a major diplomatic force since taking the Humanitarian Affairs job at the State Department. Ms. Derian has a long and impressive history of civil rights work in Mississippi and throughout the South. Since she began her task at the State Department some months ago, she has spread the Administration's word on humanitarianism at home and abroad. She has testified extensively on Capitol Hill and has travelled to Latin America, Africa, and Geneva on behalf of world-wide human rights. You might mention that Ms. Derian performed invaluable services during the campaign as a Deputy Campaign Director and, after the election, as a member of the HEW Policy Planning Group of the Carter/Mondale Transition Team. Newsweek Magazine recently said a friend described her activities as "a tremendous consciousness-raising exercise," and you would have to agree.

6. Virginia McCarty is welcomed into the Administration, but you probably wouldn't have had the good fortune to appoint her as U.S. Attorney in South Indiana had she not lost her bid for Attorney General of Indiana last fall. However, her loss is the Administration's and the State of Indiana's gain.

This is only the second time in our nation's history that a President has appointed a woman as a U.S. Attorney. The first woman, appointed in 1918, only lasted one year in her job. You are confident Ms. McCarty will persevere longer than that.

You could point out that Ms. McCarty took an 11-year leave of absence from the working world to raise her children and at the age of 40 began practicing law again. It is important for women to know that however difficult it is to combine home and family with a career, it indeed can be done.

By her own admission, Ms. McCarty's three main interests in life are women, politics, and the law. These interests stand her in good stead for the job. Her philosophy as U.S. Attorney is not just to prosecute, but to protect the innocent.

7. You might close by repeating your delighted in swearing-in three women who are so different in many ways, but who share a common commitment to human rights -- especially those of women and minorities.
